Present subjunctive - s/he

The present subjunctive is used when expressing points of view after es + adjective + que to insist or advocate that something happens.

For s/he (third person singular) add swapped present endings to the stem:

-ar verbs add -er ending (for example usar)

use

Es importante que use menos agua

-er/ir verbs add -ar ending (for example vivir)

viva

Es esencial que viva en una casa ecológica

These endings are also used for the I form of the subjunctive

Present subjunctive - they

Add swapped present tense endings to the stem:

-ar verbs, for example reciclarar

-er/-ir verbs, for example comerer

Add present tense -er verb ending

Add present tense -ar verb ending reciclaen

coman

Es necesario que
reciclaen el papel.

Es recomendable que coman fruta.

Present subjunctive (they)

Where verbs have irregular 1st person forms, these are used to form the present subjunctive:

tener - tengo tengan

hacer - hago hagan

These verbs use the same swapped present tense endings:
- ar verbs use -er verb endings
-er/-ir verbs use -ar verb endings.

These verbs are irregular:

ir - vayan

ser - sean

Indicative or subjunctive?

	indicative	subjunctive	English

2.			It is essential that they clean the rivers.
3.			My grandparents always turn off the electrical appliances.
4.			It is necessary that they recycle the rubbish.
5.			In the school the children plant lots of trees.

Present subjunctive - spelling change

Verbs ending in -gar

For example, apagar - to switch off

Stem: apag + ending

In order to keep the hard “g” sound, add u before the ending:

apague - I / s/he apaguen - they
