Subordinating conjunctions:

A subordinating conjunction kicks the verb to the end of the sentence/clause (examples are weil, obwohl, wenn).

Wenn ich Zeit habe.

But what happens if the sentence starts with a subordinating conjunction?

Let's take a look.....

Here is an example:

Wenn ich Zeit habe, simse ich.

As you can see the wenn has kicked the first verb to the end of the clause;

and the second verb has inverted with the pronoun;

this has now made a verb comma verb

Here is an example in the future tense:

Obwohl ich Zeit haben werde, werde ich nicht simsen.

Subordinating conjunctions can be used at the beginning of a sentence in any tense.

You must remember to kick the first conjugated verb to the end of the clause/sentence;

and invert the second conjugated verb with the pronoun;

you now have a verb comma verb

Here is an example in the past tense:

Als ich gesimst habe, habe ich Musik heruntergeladen.

Als is a subordinating conjunction and means when - it can ONLY be used in the past tense! You can not use wenn in the past tense. It works in the same way:

Kick the first conjugated verb to the end of the clause/sentence;

and invert the second conjugated verb with the pronoun;
you now have a verb comma verb

Begin the sentence with the subordinating conjunction:

1. Weil ich Geld habe, lade ich Musik herunter.

2. Obwohl ich Hausaufgaben habe, surfe ich lieber im Internet.

3. Wenn meine Mutter arbeitet, tippt sie oft Emails.

4. Als ich meine Mutter angerufen habe, hat es mir viel gekostet.

5. Obwohl es viele Nachteile gibt, benutze ich täglich das Internet

Using verb comma verb:

1. How does a verb comma verb work?

the first conjugated verb is sent to the end of the clause, then there is a comma and then the second conjugated verb inverts with the pronoun.

2. What does 'als' mean?

3. In which tense(s) can you use 'als'?

past

4. How do you say: When I was younger I downloaded music.

Als ich jünger war, habe ich Musik heruntergeladen.
