

Speech and Language Therapy

Telling Stories

Lesson 14 of 14 on Using Language

Emma Jones

Developing Language for Telling Stories - Picture sequences

Gather up as many pictures of the child's day to day activities or events for this kind of task. Retell the event and write notes for each picture.

Increase the amount of time between events and sequencing/retelling them!

Reduce the number of pictures needed to give detail about the event.

Developing Language for Telling Stories - Retelling Stories

Read stories together and talk about:

Who is in the story?

Where did it take place?

What happened .... what happened next?

When?

Draw out some pictures of these key parts of the story.

Act out parts and bring key concepts to life with sensory activities!

Use these pictures to retell the story in as much detail as possible.

Developing Language for Telling Stories - writing my own stories

Title:
Who?	Where?	What?
Start	Build up	End

Developing Language for Telling Stories - writing my own stories

Draw out pictures of the child's own stories and use these pictures to retell the story in as much detail as possible.

1	2	3
4	5	6

