

Spanish

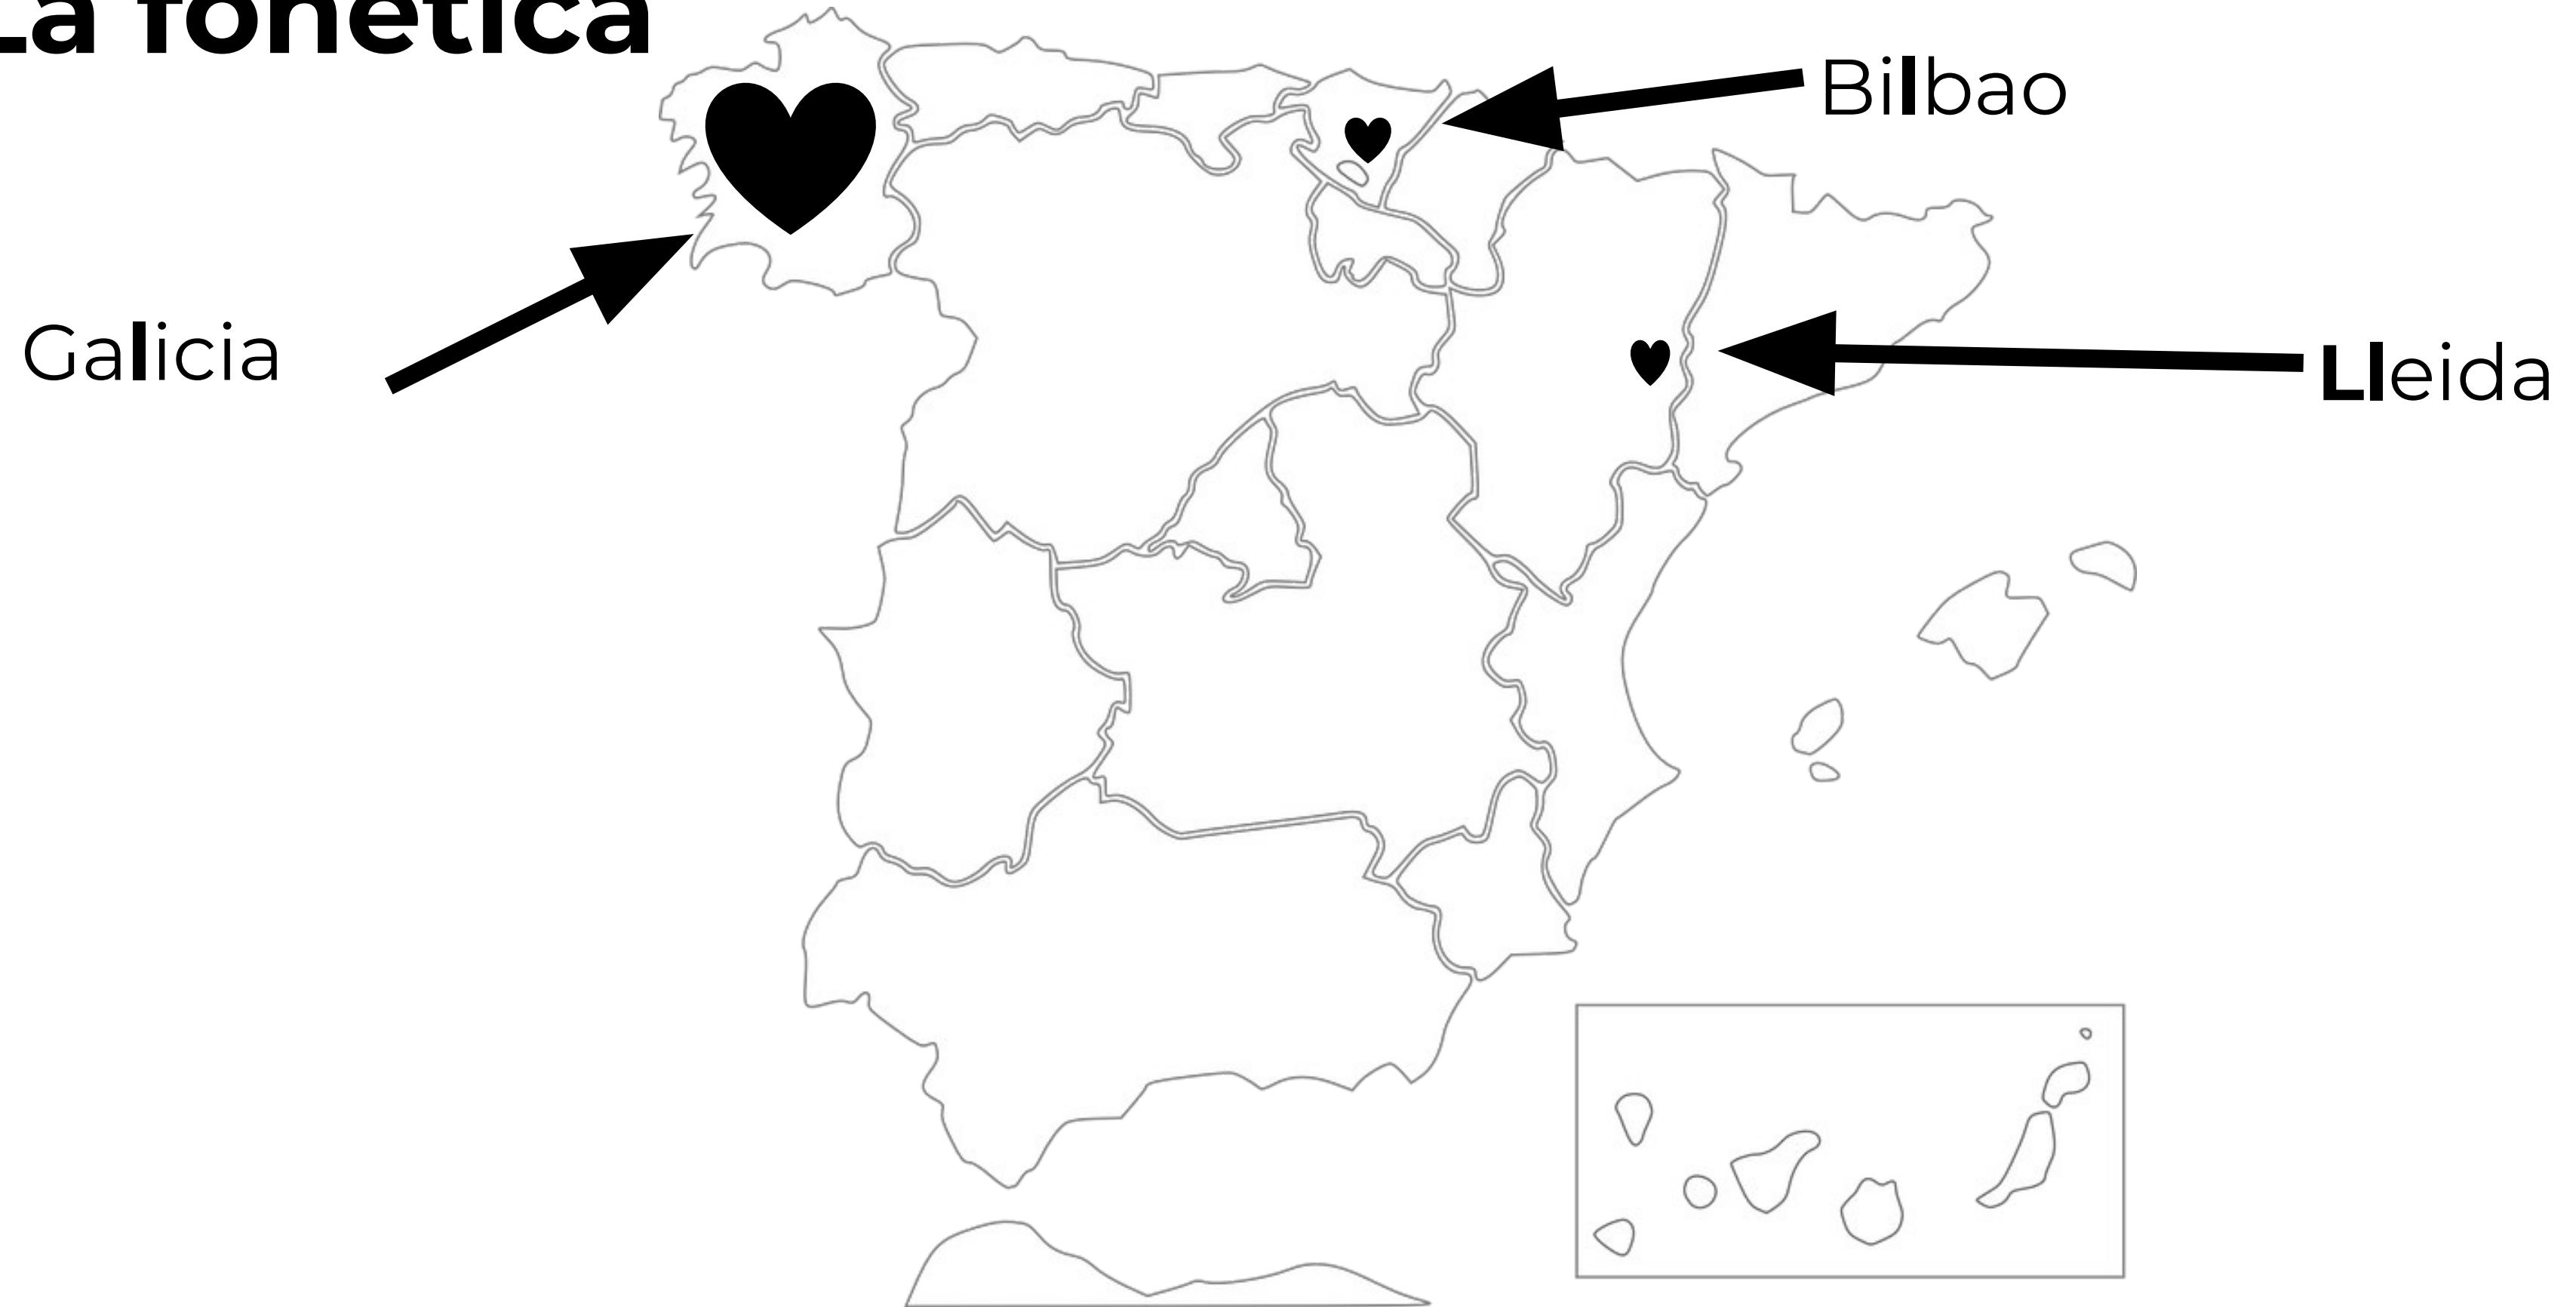

- Experiences now and in the past [2/2]
- Present vs preterite tenses: 3rd person singular
- AR verbs
- Hacer

Señorita Allinson

OAK NATIONAL ACADEMY

La fonética

el examen	the exam
hacer	to do, doing; to make, making
repasar	to revise, revising
pronunciar	to pronounce, pronouncing
la cultura	culture
después	afterwards
el ejercicio	exercise
ayer	yesterday
por la tarde	in the afternoon/evening
por la mañana	in the morning
sobre	about
hoy	today

Present tense - ar verbs

3rd person singular ('s/he, it' form)

To mean 's/he' or 'it' with ar verbs in the present tense, remove –ar and add –a.

hablar

habl

habla

(he/she/it speaks)

repasar

repas

repasa

(he/she/it revises)

This part of the verb is called the 'stem'.

Preterite tense - ar verbs

3rd person singular ('s/he, it' form)

To mean 's/he' or 'it' with ar verbs with actions completed in the past, remove –ar and add –ó.

hablar

habl

habló

(he/she/it spoke)

repasar

repas

repasó

(he/she/it revised)

HACER

Remember, some verbs don't follow the regular patterns.

The verb HACER is an example of this.

	Present tense		Preterite tense
hacer (to do, doing; to make, making)	hace	he/she/it does/makes	hizo	he/she/it did/made

Summary

1. The AR verb ending for ‘he/she/it’ in present tense is: -a
2. The AR verb ending for ‘he/she/it’ in preterite tense is: -ó
3. The word for “s/he did/made” is: hizo
4. Translate: “pronunció las palabras” “he pronounced the words”
5. “He spoke with the teacher after the exam” is: “Habló con el profesor después del examen.”

